BAITZ

MELBOURNE AUSTRALIA

Somewhat clear in appearance, with a slight hint of a gold tinge, this variant of schnapps intensely exudes warm butter and brown sugar scents, as well as being extremely flavoursome to taste.

A versatile schnapps, that is excellent on the rocks, or mixed with coffee for something a little special.

It is a liqueur composed of many herbs and spices which were used as medicines by the alchemists of old. Even today the predominant spices of caraway and aniseed are generally recognised as having therapeutic value. In addition, the alchemists added pure flakes of gold to their "Medicine" in belief that its imagined magical properties would impart good health and long life to their patients.
